IT

IT can often become a real headache, particularly for small companies. New hardware, additional software and continuous upgrades can create major problems further down the line. The ideal solution for any company is to have a dedicated IT department, but when the ideal is impossible, Ambient Computers provides the next best thing.

A virtual IT department that knows your company, provides regular techno health checks and offers 24/7 assistance, Ambient Computers gives you the confidence to run your business without worrying about the systems that support it.

Every client's needs are different, and because we recognise this, it means that we are able to design integrated solutions that will be tailored specifically to your business.

Supporting You At Every Step

However carefully you plan for success, you also need a partner you can rely on if something goes wrong. At Ambient Computers, we provide a round-the-clock service to clients and have the knowledge and expertise to find a fast solution to your problems. Installation, configuration, troubleshooting and support - whatever you need, we can deliver.

Although we offer competitive call-out charges and hourly rates, we prefer to work with customers on a retainer basis to prevent problems arising rather than fixing them when they do. Regular system maintenance improves system response times, increases productivity and ensures system integrity. However if a problem does occur, we even offer realistic response times that are often better than those you might expect from in-house IT departments.

E-Commerce

Take full advantage of the internet by making online sales. At very competitive prices, we can offer a range of e-commerce solutions for small and medium size businesses looking to establish a presence on the internet.

Don't get left behind, be prepared to get the edge on your competitors.

Internet Services

Your website is a central marketing tool for your business, it represents an essential source of information for clients and potential clients. As such you need to ensure it is easy to navigate, fast to access and provides the information your clients need to know. Ambient Computers provides you with a complete package that covers:

- Web design and development
- Hosting
- Domain name registration
- Website marketing

Networking and Email

As companies grow, so too do their IT requirements. Many small businesses started out with a single email address and now all staff need their own email to communicate with colleagues, customers or business partners.

Handling networking, email addressing and server administration, Ambient Computers will ensure your office communications are integrated and resilient. When the email and intranet are offline, downtime can be costly. Get a full analysis now and avoid the potential for problems.

IT Security

Stopping Spam, removing viruses, blocking hackers and defending your website is absolutely necessary to avoid commercial embarrassment, loss of earnings and potential business failure. The threats to modern businesses from hackers, virus writers and cyber criminals are very real and need to be taken as seriously as locking the office and switching on the alarm.

Ambient Computers will carry out an analysis of your current protection and advise any potential chinks in your armour. Even with the latest software you may still be missing a vital line of defence. Our team of experts work with all leading software security firms and will ensure you are well prepared for potential attacks.

Software Decisions

Different businesses have varying software requirements. Ambient Computers can provide independent advice on which software will be most suited to your business requirements. The key to success is choosing a product that not only fulfils your commercial requirements but one that can also be easily and effectively integrated into your current IT environment.

Choosing New Hardware

In a world of ever changing technology and rapid advancements, you need the latest advice on what's available in the marketplace for your budget. Our experts at Ambient Computers stay on top of the latest trends to ensure you get the best value for your money.
